

Room with a

View

BUGS increase the closer you live to a water course and living on the banks of the Clarence River delivers both a magic view and phenomenal numbers of bugs.

"You get thousands of bugs here," said Brushgrove cane farmer Rhonda Thew. "In bug season, you get 'lawn' bugs nesting as a carpet under your eaves."

Installing a Spanline Weatherlite® room has given her a comfortable, bug-free room to enjoy her river views, but she doesn't count this as the major advantage.

"The biggest benefit this addition has made is the house is now so warm in cold weather as the winter sun heats up this room and lets the lovely warm air into the house," Mrs Thew said.

"Before, once the temperature dropped, the house was so cold and now, even on a cold day, it's lovely to sit out here in winter," she said.

"I never would have considered sitting out here before because there were too many bugs and now I enjoy being out here most days."

Sliding the lightweight Weatherlite panels channels breezes through to cool the house when the weather heats up.

"I read an article about the Spanline product in the paper and I thought, that's what I need here."

"I first thought of just getting the verandah enclosed, but when Peter came out from Spanline, he said it's going to look narrow, so we went wider and shorter and this is so much better than what I first thought of."

Pappalardo explained, "The Weatherlite windows have three sliding sashes which give you a 66% opening, allowing more airflow than conventional windows."

"The system is extremely user-friendly and very low maintenance when compared to glass, although we did use laminated glass on the lower window sections, to give Rhonda as uninterrupted view as possible," Mr Pappalardo said.

There are four combinations in the Spanline Weatherlite range.

"It's a great room and I love it and it certainly has improved the house," she said.

"I never would have considered sitting out here before because there were too many bugs and now I enjoy being out here most days."
